BOY MISSING FROM HOME ISSUES IN GAINES CASE

Thirteen-Year-Old Young Lawhorn Left Home Yesterday Morning, and Has Disappeared.

My little boy left home at 7 o'clock Wednesday morning and has not returned. He has on coat and brown vest, with dark stripes, and short dark pants and small black hat. He is 13 years old, slender, and very fair. If any one knows where he is, or saw him yesterday, please phone 132, and oblige Mrs. J. M. Lawhorn, 10 Cherry St., Palestine, Tex.

The above lad, Young Lawhorn by name, left his home yesterday morning, since which time he has not been seen and all efforts to locate him or get trace of him has so far failed. His mother says he told one of his brothers and some of his schoolmates yesterday that he was going to the home of an uncle who lives at White House, near Tyler, on the I. & G. N., and said he proposed to walk. He is a rather frail little fellow and very fair of complexion. The officers have joined the family in efforts to get some trace of the missing child, and any information concerning his whereabouts will be greatly appreciated by his family.

CRIMINAL NEGLIGENCE

Was the Theme of Rev. Burgin's Address at Last Night's Services at Centenary Church.

Take up the Bible, turn to Heb. 2:1-3, and look at it verse by verse. From this text the subject of last night's discourse at the Methodist revival was taken. "Criminal Negligence," as the subject, applied in a forceful manner, commanded the attention of every listener from the very beginning and made a deep impression upon many, as shown by their outward expression of repentance.

No man will underrate the importance, or dispute the authority of law, either human or Divine. Men live close within the bounds of human laws, and when they do disobey them the proper punishment is meted out, of greater or less severity, according to the crime they have committed; then why are not God's laws revered and obeyed by all men, as are the human laws? God has laid down his orders—do you obey them? If not, then you will pay for violating them. Throughout the Bible we find instances where God has proved that His law cannot be violated with impunity; then why are they disdained or ignored by men of intelligence, men of power and by many less fortunate who need His help and guidance and saving power?

God gave His Son to save the world and we show what we think of Him by the way we receive Him. If we refuse this great salvation then we shall be damned and the guilt of having committed the greatest criminal negligence known shall rest upon our heads throughout eternity.

Is it not man's business to live first according to God's law and orders? Not the making of money and reputation, but the making of character, a true man, a better humanity, as the supreme business of every living soul. This cannot be neglected without receiving punishment from the supreme law-giver. Oft times excuses are given for this sinful neglect, such as business interests interfering, and such like, but how weak these are when brought face to face with the most supreme business as laid down in the Holy Book. The time will come when you will take heed of God's law, but perhaps then it will be too late; now is the time to make sure that you will never be guilty of the crime which means everlasting damnation; now is the time to establish your kinship to God and to make your soul immortal. If the health is neglected it often means death and if the soul is neglected it means to be shut out from God, to die without Him, and further it means the hurrying of his offer of blessing in His face and the calling upon yourself of everlasting death. If, when Mary went to wash Christ's feet to show her adoration of the Holy Son, He had turned her away with disdain, what would you think of Him? How, then, does God look upon those who refuse the greatest blessing ever offered to man?

Man is too apt to prize the less valuable things and to neglect the most important ones. This is true of human nature. But heed God's laws and stop intending to do something better and do it; it is to the interest of God's kingdom and your heart. Begin today and be careful of your souls. Do more for the church and the community, thereby freeing yourself from the guilt of the criminal negligence, which means eternal ruin, for "How shall we escape if we neglect so great a salvation." The blessings of God will rest upon you and everlasting peace will be yours if you are obedient to Jesus Christ, the Savior of mankind. Baraca.

AN EVENING WITH THE IRISH.

Manager O'Connell of the Lyric Promises Good Program Tonight.

The "Night Riders" motion pictures were exhibited again last night to good size crowds at the Lyric Theatre, in addition to the regular bill of pictures and vaudeville.

Tonight the Lyric will present a special St. Patrick's Day program, consisting of Irish subjects in motion pictures, special Irish music by the Trice Orchestra and an illustrated song, entitled, "Under the Irish Moon." Rooney and Richards, comedy sketch artists, will present a refined comedy playlet, and Manager O'Connell says it will be one of the largest and best bills ever offered by this popular playhouse. Everybody visiting the theatre tonight will receive a pretty St. Patrick's Day souvenir. No advance in prices. The first show starts promptly at 7:30.

The story of the Night Riders, as shown by the motion pictures last night, was interesting. Trice's Orchestra continues to be one of the high drawing cards, the music being of a high order.

FAT DEFEATING EXTRAORDINARY

Margaret Knolly.

SLENDER Margaret Knolly, now, if you please. The fascinating leading lady of the Bijou, now more fascinating than ever, astonished all her friends on Broadway the other day by presenting to their admiring gaze a svelt and willowy form in place of the plump, not to say fat, outlines with which she gaily sailed away to new triumphs and foreign shores last January. After a good deal of diplomatic cross-examination from interested fat acquaintances the secret was cautiously whispered to a few dear friends, with the result that everybody knows it now. It was not exercise, nor fasting, nor sea air, nor worry about her new venture that had brought about this wonderful willowy change in the charming Margaret; no, none of these; nothing but a simple mixture which all good druggists are familiar with and can supply at small cost, to-wit: One-half ounce Marmola, one-half ounce Fluid Extract Cascara Aromatic, and three and one-half ounces Peppermint Water. "Grown folks need a teaspoonful after meals and at bedtime," explained the now slender Margaret. "It is simply wonderful. It takes off the fat quickly, as much as a pound a day, and keeps it off. You can eat what you like, too. In that respect it is unlike anything of the kind I ever heard of, and besides it has another splendid feature—it is entirely harmless, and will not cause wrinkles. I think it is about as essential a toilet article for the woman who is fat and wants to get thinner as face powder. In order to get the best results, however, you should buy the Marmola in the original package and mix it in the other two ingredients after you get home."
